Children's Art Exhibit Set At Duxbury Library

Children's art work from Duxbury will be entered in the Wilson Library Bulletin's national Cover Contest according to an announcement by Mrs. Richard Neubauer, Director of the Duxbury Free Library.

The Wilson Library Bulletin, a monthly library publication widely used by librarians throughout the country, has long been noted for its distinctive covers.

If the winning entry by a child artist is judged suitable for use on a Wilson Library Bulletin cover, a prize of $100 will be awarded the child. If the winning entry is not used as a cover, the prize will be $50.

Rules of the contest limit the entries to five from each librarian. Children must be enrolled in a private or public school but not more than twelve years of age or beyond the sixth grade.

Minimum size for entries is six inches wide by seven inches high;
